not recommended, concept was great, horrible execution, window doesn't fit properly, and the game has too many bugs.. For what it tries to be, it is good. A unique feature is that ships can move in 3D, which is strangely a rare thing in the space RTS genre. Controls are a bit clunky. Somewhere between Homeworld and FTL.. It's pretty funny. but to be honest... there isn't much of a point to it. More like outta the war ... As somebody clocking almost 200 hours in this game, I say this - ♥♥♥♥ yeah. You need a computer good enough to run a half-decent sized universe, granted, but ♥♥♥♥ is it satisfying to build bigger and cooler things up to ringworlds and ships bigger than solar systems. I ♥♥♥♥ing love it.

I also say - If the base game isn't enough for you, get the Galactic Armoury mod, it enhances the game in a lot of ways (though does it make it more complex).

Star Ruler is a flawed, but just beautiful amazing game.. Although I have had this game many years. I have only played 59mins. Still to this day I have not driven a bus in the game. The 59mins were trying to fix my controls and walk to the bus. I did not pay to do a bus tucker trial everytime i wish to drive a bus.

10/10 Bus game, walk next time.

I wish there was a neutral option instead of good/bad) This is a very short puzzle game. I some what liked the game until the ending. Would be nice if you could have an option B at the end. If you have $1 and want to amuse yourself for 10-30 minutes and then feel bad then go ahead and buy it.. Not bad at all for a mobile game but my opinion is totally biased since I like this type of games. The only issue I have is that the enemy animations are quite poor and slow as if they are lagging..? Nobody is answering me about this issue on the forums though.

Reminds me of the ps1 era Dino Crisis but with zombies and much much better controls.. dumb game very cheezy if you like dumb fun SHMUP games give her a go.. Love this game back in 2011.. Cute little pixellated stealth game about the impact of poor building codes on impressionable young minds. Guide Lily through a deranged nightmare cellar that would make the town fire marshall weep inconsolably, all in search of her stray teddy bear.

Controls could be a little slow in responding some times, but it's not a platformer, and you're not really supposed to be running around all crazy when you might stumble into a hungry cellar monster. Overall, it was inexpensively entertaining.. Awesome and addictive race game! This game will really test your reflexes and once you started and reached a certain amount of speed or score, you can't stop and want to try to beat your high score more and more :).

Although this game is in early access, I'd say it's almost bug free!. Cute and fun SHMUP. You also unlock a character in 100% Orange Juice.. Aight, just finished it. Took me about 8 hours, nice writing and plenty of choices to go with. Got me invested in characters and i'm already contemplating a second playthrough.
